Risk Warning

Participating in financial trading involves inherent risks. This document serves to educate our clients on potential risks they might encounter, both in trading and non-trading activities within financial markets. Please only invest funds that you can afford to lose without negatively affecting your financial well-being. The Forex market carries the risk of significant financial loss.

Leverage Implications

Leverage enables trading in higher volumes than your account balance, but it's a double-edged sword. While it can amplify profits, it can also magnify losses. Psychological factors often entice traders to use high leverage, which may create a false sense of security. Remember, leverage can significantly impact on your account, even with minimal market fluctuations. Evaluate your risk tolerance before selecting your leverage size.

Volatility Risks

Many instruments in the financial market exhibit high daily volatility. This volatility can lead to either gains or losses. Be fully aware and willing to assume the risks tied to high volatility.

Technical Hazards

While trading, various technical issues can arise on your end, including:

- Software glitches
- Connectivity issues
- Terminal misconfigurations
- Hardware failures
- Outdated software

Emar Markets cannot be held accountable for losses stemming from such technical issues on the client's end.

Market Conditions

Be aware that unusual market conditions can extend order processing times.

Regulatory Risks

Comply with the laws of your jurisdiction, including reporting your earnings to the relevant authorities.

Trading Hazards

- Our analytical material is solely informational and should not be construed as investment advice.
- Stop Loss settings cannot always entirely prevent losses.
- Lack of understanding of financial markets and trading platforms could result in losses.
- Be cautious of holding positions over the weekend due to potential price gaps.

Client's Trading Interface

- The primary source for financial instrument quotes is Emar Markets' main server.
- One trade instruction can be in the queue at any given moment.
- Closing the trade window doesn't cancel any instructions sent for execution.

Communication Security

- Despite encryption, email communications are not entirely secure from unauthorized access. Emar Markets is not liable for any third-party interception.
- Confidentiality of information like passwords should be maintained. Emar Markets is not responsible for losses from unauthorized third-party access.
- Non-receipt of critical communications due to technical issues on your end is not the responsibility of Emar Markets.

Force Majeure

Be aware of risks arising from unpredictable or uncontrollable events.

Psychological Factors

An unstable psychological state can negatively influence your trading decisions, leading to losses.

Additional Risks

This list is not exhaustive, and other unidentified risks may occur.

We are committed to a long-lasting relationship with our clients and prioritize their well-being, so we encourage you to familiarize yourself thoroughly with these risks.

Note: The risks listed above are illustrative and not exhaustive.
